

Playing at the Rutgers New Jersey Jewish Film Festival

NEW JERSEY PREMIERE

ORTHODOX STANCE

USA, 2007, 83 min.

English, Russian with English subtitles

Director: Jason Hutt

Twenty-four-year-old Russian immigrant Dmitriy Salita (pictured at left) is a strictly observant Jew who is breaking records and making boxing history. This documentary film takes an intimate look at how he balances life in two seemingly incompatible worlds, demonstrating a rare ability to integrate his religious devotion and his drive to capture a professional boxing title.

Sunday, November 9 at 12:45 p.m.

Remarks by Mike Silver, boxing historian and author of The Rise and Decline of the Sweet Science

Sunday, November 16 at 7:00 p.m.

Special guest appearance
by Dmitriy Salita

The Regal Cinema Commerce Center
2399 US 1 South, North Brunswick, NJ
Ticket information: jewishstudies.rutgers.edu or 732-932-4166

RUTGERS
THE STATE UNIVERSITY
OF NEW JERSEY