

FREE

TEACHER WORKSHOP

Working together to teach about genocide, bias, prejudice and bigotry

Teachers from all public, private, religious and national origin schools are encouraged to attend

THURSDAY – OCTOBER 16, 2008

8:30 a.m. – 2:30 p.m.

Featuring the story & film:

“Delicious Peace Grows in a Ugandan Coffee Bean”

Cooperative effort of Muslim, Christian and Jewish farmers in Uganda

Program:

- Building Bridges between Diverse Cultures – The Daniel Pearl Story
 - Practical Programs for Schools and Communities
- How Can We Work Together – Developing Common Rationale
 - Panel Discussion

*Lunch and Educational Materials Provided
5 Professional Development Hours Provided*

This workshop meets a number of state standards (see reverse side)

Location:

Daniel Pearl Education Center
at
Temple B’nai Shalom
Fern and Old Stage Roads
East Brunswick, NJ

This project is a cooperative endeavor of the Daniel Pearl Education Center, The New Jersey Commission on Holocaust Education, The American Conference on Diversity, St. Bartholomew School of East Brunswick and The Herbert and Leonard Littman Families Holocaust Resource Center, Rutgers – The State University of New Jersey

Advance Registration required

Send email to: holocaust@doe.state.nj.us – (Mention Date and Title of Workshop)

Include Name, Position, School affiliation& contact information

Questions – call (609) 292-9274